

Bridging the Gap Between Classroom and Industry:

An Industrial Visit to Dabur India Limited and Filatex India Ltd.

As part of our MBA academic journey at Jankidevi Bajaj Institute of Management Studies (JDBIMS), SNTD Women's University, we had the opportunity to participate in an enriching Industrial Visit to Dabur India Limited, Silvassa, and Filatex India Ltd., Dadra.

The visit provided us with valuable exposure to the functioning of large-scale manufacturing organisations and helped us connect classroom concepts with real-world industry practices.

Visit to Dabur India Limited

Our first visit was to Dabur India Limited, Silvassa, a leading organisation in the FMCG sector. We gained insights into its manufacturing processes, quality control systems, production planning, and operational practices.

Observing the systematic flow of operations helped us understand how people, processes, technology, and quality management work together to ensure efficiency and consistency. The visit also highlighted the importance of workplace safety, discipline, and teamwork in a manufacturing environment.

Visit to Filatex India Limited

Our second visit was to Filatex India Ltd., Dadra, where we explored the operations of the textile and polymer manufacturing industry. We observed how technology and machinery contribute to large-scale production while maintaining quality and productivity.

The visit gave us practical insights into production planning, process optimisation, quality assurance, resource utilisation, and operational efficiency. It also reflected the role of effective management in coordinating people, processes, and technology.

Learning Beyond the Classroom

The industrial visit allowed us to see management concepts in action. Topics related to Human Resource Management, Operations Management, Supply Chain Management, Quality Management, and Organisational Behaviour became more meaningful through practical exposure.

More importantly, the experience taught us the value of professionalism, teamwork, communication, discipline, and workplace safety.

A Valuable Experience

The visit to Dabur India Limited and Filatex India Ltd. was more than an academic activity—it was an opportunity to observe, learn, and understand the realities of the corporate and manufacturing world.

It helped us bridge the gap between theory and practice and gave us a broader perspective on how successful organisations manage their people, processes, and resources.

The experience was an important and memorable part of our MBA journey, reminding us that learning extends far beyond the classroom.
